Think Rescue First!

About ARF:

Animal Rescue Foundation of Southeastern Pennsylvania (ARF) is an all-volunteer 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that rescues cats, dogs and rabbits from public shelters that must euthanize when full. Pets receive complete veterinary care and reside with a foster family until adopted, as long as that takes.

ARF also addresses the problem of pet overpopulation by hosting free spay/neuter clinics in areas with high numbers of strays (especially cats) turned in to area shelters.

ARF has special programs for senior pets, and ARF will turn away no pet based on breed, age, health or temperament.

Our goal is a day when every adoptable pet has a safe, loving home.
